

The Upsell Engine

storefront-upsell · built in shopify

Every order that ships without its obvious companion is margin you already paid to acquire.

What it connects to: The store knows the order. The email tool knows the person. The companion mapping belongs to neither, so it needs a home that both can read.

1 of 4 SYSTEM

Here's the system that decides whether there's an honest companion — and stays silent when there isn't.

The restraint is the product: one suggestion, never a second, and never something they already own.

 Is there an honest companion product?

And the cross-sell rule firing on the order itself.
