

The Approval Router

approval-routing · built in pipedrive

Approvals sit in an inbox with no ladder, so the bottleneck is invisible until someone asks why nothing shipped.

What it connects to: The request arrives in one place and the authority to approve lives in another. The audit trail has to span both or the band is unauditale.

1 of 4 SYSTEM

Here's the router: auto-approve inside a band, route the rest by rule, escalate on silence.

2 of 4 THINKING

Every auto-approval records who and why, or the band becomes unauditale.

The screenshot shows a workflow editor interface for a node titled "Is it inside the auto-approve band?". The interface is divided into three main sections: INPUT, Parameters, and OUTPUT.

INPUT Section: Displays "No input data" with a button "Execute previous nodes" and the text "to view input data".

Parameters Section: Contains tabs for "Parameters" and "Settings". Under "Parameters", there is a "Conditions" section with a JSON expression: `{{ $json.withinBand === true && $json.approver != null && $json.amount > 0 }}`. A dropdown menu shows "is true". Below the conditions is a toggle switch for "Convert types where required" (currently off) and an "Options" section with a "+ Add option" button. An "Execute step" button is located at the top right of the Parameters section.

OUTPUT Section: Displays "No output data" with a button "Execute step" and the text "to view output data".

At the bottom of the interface, there is a "Logs" tab and a feedback prompt: "I wish this node would...".

3 of 4 THEIR-WORLD

The stage and approval configuration inside a real CRM.

And the weekly report naming who's actually holding things up.
