

The Win-Back

reactivation · built in ghl

Customers stop buying and nobody notices, because nothing is watching their own rhythm.

What it connects to: Dormancy is a purchase-history question and the message is a marketing-tool question. Neither system holds both halves.

1 of 4 SYSTEM

Here's the win-back, keyed on each customer's normal gap rather than a blanket 90 days.

2 of 4 THINKING

One honest message, never a series — that's what keeps it out of the spam folder.

The screenshot displays the Node-RED interface with a workflow step titled "Are they genuinely overdue for them?". The interface is divided into three main sections: INPUT, Parameters, and OUTPUT.

INPUT: Shows "No input data" and a button "Execute previous nodes" to view input data.

Parameters: Contains a "Conditions" section with a JSON condition: `{{ $json.overdue === true && $json.sinceDays > ($json.normalGap * 1.5) }}`. There is a checkbox "is true" and a button "+ Add condition". Below this is a toggle "Convert types where required" and an "Options" section with a "+ Add option" button.

OUTPUT: Shows "No output data" and a button "Execute step" to view output data.

At the bottom, there is a button "Execute step" and a link "Docs".

Running in the CRM against real dormancy signals.
