

The Booking System

scheduling · built in quickbooks

Confirmation is the easy half. The money is in what happens when someone doesn't turn up.

What it connects to: The calendar owns the slot, the messaging system owns the reminder, and the no-show recovery has to survive both. A reschedule that only updates one side is the classic failure.

1 of 4 SYSTEM

Here's the full sequence — confirm, remind twice, and branch on attendance.

2 of 4 THINKING

This is the no-show recovery path, which is the part that pays for the build.
